

Outsourcing accounting & book keeping

There are myriad processes which we undertake for our clients and some are listed below. By dipping a toe in to each of the processes your organisation can evaluate the benefits of each.

Whether it's in-house accounting or an extension to your accounting services, ESG will provide resource expert in your processes. Once we have established your modus operandi we replicate the processes efficiently and with utmost confidentiality. As well as dramatic cost savings you will benefit from dedicated resource, focused, energetic and flexible around your requirements.

ESG is not an accountancy firm. We provide the resource expert in the accounting and book keeping processes that you undertake. You manage directly the individual resource(s), or team leader, just as if that person(s) was in your office. You tell us the skill sets required and we provide the experts. This is our tried and tested virtual employee model.

The costs are based on the skill sets required. A CPA and a book keeper of course command different costs. The only certainty, without knowing your requirements, is that it will be a fraction of the cost you are paying now.
